

AUV Acoustic Communication — Technical Report

Emmanuel Basua — Electrical & Computer Engineering

Overview

A chirp-FSK acoustic communication concept for an Antarctic under-ice autonomous underwater vehicle positioning and data system.

Signal processing

The design considers modulation, sampling, filtering, synchronization and robust detection in a constrained underwater acoustic channel.

Implementation

MATLAB and embedded signal-processing concepts were used to evaluate the link and communicate engineering trade-offs.